

ONIRI - Makeup and Costuming Technical Guide

Makeup

Oniri are a light-makeup species with three variations:

Loroniri require makeup and prosthetics, Sajoniri require makeup only, and Xanoniri require makeup and (preferably) costume contact lenses.

Oniri are a humanoid species recognizable by the spots that all branches of their species have. These spots are irregularly shaped (approximately circular) and can range in color from light blue, to dark blue, to violet purple and lavender. Players can choose to have spots that are a single color or several colors from within this range. Each of the Oniri variations has a slightly different pattern to their spots (details below).

Oniri universally wear cosmetic makeup: eyeliner, nail polish, lipstick, eyeshadow and mascara are considered standard for any public-facing Oniri, along with immaculate attire. (At the very least, Players should portray their Oniri with eyeliner in addition to their Oniri's requisite makeup).

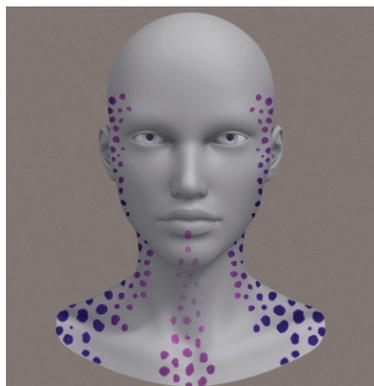

Process:

Since Oniri makeup is not extensive, you may choose to do your hair and put on costuming before or after applying your makeup.

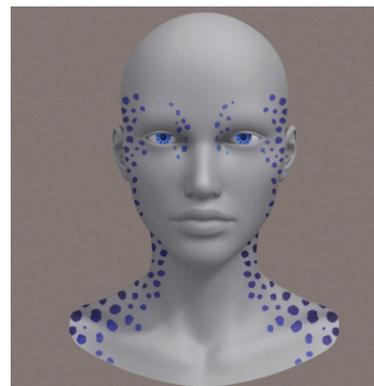

- All Oniri spots begin at the temples and continue down the sides of the neck, along the ribcage and ending at the hips. The arms will generally not have spots, but the shoulders may.

Loroniri require standard Oniri spot makeup and prosthetic ears. No specific brand of ear is required; they need only be pointed elf-style ears.

Sajoniri require Oniri spot makeup plus an additional line of spots that begins just below the lower lip and runs down the center of the torso.

Xanoniri require Oniri spot makeup plus additional spots on the center brow and eye area. Wearing unusual contact lenses is very strongly encouraged.

- For Oniri cosmetic makeup, combine a simple, classical/conventional application style with bold, vibrant, or dark colors. Classic makeup tutorials will help guide you in applying this. Generally, color is coordinated between eyeshadow, lipstick, and nail polish when all are worn (ex: dark blue lips with a dark blue eyeshadow and nail polish; golden lips with gold eyeshadow and nail polish). Players are encouraged to match their makeup with colors in their character's costume for additional impact.

Costume

Oniri are a very fastidious, exacting species, and their clothing, hairstyles, and makeup reflect and reinforce this. Oniri always dress for the occasion, and dress to impress. Their style would be best described as high-fashion-formal. There is no divide between how males and females of the species dress - pants, skirts, dresses and robes are all considered unisex.

In some ways Oniri adherence to a neat, clean and proper style can be seen as a rebellion against what they see as a natural inclination of humans towards a chaotic state of being. Accordingly, while Oniri look down upon humans, one might be slightly kinder to a human who appears well put-together.

Suggestions: Clean lines and well-fitted looks. Suits or jackets with contrasting or coordinated color accents; dresses and coats with with lace or embroidered accents. Color-coordinate items for a harmonious look. Patterned fabric is used in the minimum, usually paired with matching solid colors (all-pattern would be considered too much visual clutter). Bright colors if fashionable (but not loud).

A Player could swap out their character's clothing during the course of an event.

Popular Reference: High Fashion, EGA, Sombra (Overwatch), Gundam pilot uniforms, anime and game-inspired fashion. Tron Legacy (specifically Castor).

Hair and Makeup

Oniri makeup (mentioned on the previous page) is usually coordinated to match or harmonize with their clothing and other makeup.

Hair should be neat and sleek; hair wraps, ribbons or decorative wires are suggested for use on ponytails to keep everything contained and in place. It is not uncommon for Oniri to temporarily dye parts of their hair to match their clothing.
